Theme: "Nursing Education and Collaborations in an Indigenous Global Community"

Dear Dean/Director/Chair:

As Chair of the Ad/Marketing Committee, it is my honor to invite you to the 23rd Annual Meeting and Scientific Conference to be held this year in Paris, France. We look forward to another exciting conference sharing research findings associated with this year's theme: Nursing Education and Collaborations in an Indigenous Global Community. Please visit our website for Conference updates at <http://www.abnf.net>.

The purpose of the Association is to serve as a vehicle through which African-American faculty can conduct and disseminate original research related to the health care of African-American clients, families and communities. The official publication of the Association is The ABNF Journal, a peer-reviewed scholarly publication, which documents the distinct nature and healthcare needs of the Black patient through the dissemination of health-related manuscripts, materials and reviews. A distinguished panel of nursing experts is responsible for the selection of articles appearing in each issue. If there are any African-American faculty teaching at your esteemed institution, we encourage you to invite their participation in the scholarly activities of the Association.

Enclosed you will find the Conference Registration Form, Ad Order Form and Call for Abstracts. Please share these materials with your faculty and students. Remember when registering with the hotel to mention your attendance at the ABNF Conference for the special room rate of $244.00. The cutoff date for room reservations is May 6, 2010.

We hope to see you at our Conference and thank you for your support.

Warmest regards,

Bobbie Perdue
